

Michelle M Angelini RN BSN IBCLC

Lactation Consultant for the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit and a Registered Nurse, Michelle specializes in the unique needs of high risk infants and their mothers.

Originally from Hamilton Ontario, she has worked in Pasadena California at Huntington Memorial Hospital and as Charge Nurse at McMaster University Medical Centre Hamilton in the NICU. Becoming an International Board Certified Lactation Consultant in 1993 demonstrates a long career working with breastfeeding mothers. A co-researcher on the effects of Domperidone on milk production, and a poster presentation winner at ILCA, she also obtained her Bachelor of Health Science (Nursing) in 1996.

Previously a bedside nurse in the NICU Michelle's extensive experience offers information and encouragement to breastfeeding mothers and their families.
